CURIOUS · CREATIVE · ANALYTICAL

Gulyás Dávid Sámuel

I love creating things and solving problems, whether with numbers, a brush, code or a team of people.

I study finance and mathematics at Corvinus University of Budapest. Alongside my studies I grew Reador.art into a community of more than 600,000 followers, and I'm building ArAt, a web project that connects people with real artists. I do my best work where careful analysis meets new ideas.

ArAt

A walkable, hand-painted room on the web, behind an old Budapest door with a code keypad. Every object inside is made by a real artist, and one click takes the visitor to them. I paint the room, design the experience and build the site with coding agents.
